

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XXII.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1894.

NO. 73

MIDDLEBURG, CASEY COUNTY.

—W. T. Coulter, democratic challenger, amused the officers of the election Tuesday by asking every man that came in to vote for a chew of tobacco.

—We confidently expected to have something good to write about the election in this county, but everything went like "Ward's ducks" and we would not say a word about it, but for the fact that we have nothing else to write about. The result might have been different had every democrat done his duty. About 15 staid at home, some went soul and body over to the enemy and it is reported that others swapped out, while those with whom they traded went into the booths and voted as they pleased. We have heard of republicans engaging in the dirty practice of swapping, but we thought it too revolting to the nature of a respectable democrat to condescend to such a practice. We have nothing to boast of except a democratic justice of peace, Jacob Wall, dem. got there in good shape over Ruben Staton, rep. Staton got nearly as many votes as Adams & Coxon combined, which shows the high esteem in which he is held here. We are sadly disappointed and feel that the people have made a sad mistake in not sending him to Congress. We had no preference between Adams and Coxon. The one would have done nothing unusual, while perhaps, the other would have done too much.

LIBERTY, CASEY COUNTY.

—The following is the result of the election in Casey County: Silas Adams, rep., 1,157; George E. Stone, dem., 1,016; D. G. Coison, rep., 236; for county judge, John M. Tilford, rep., 1,228; George A. Prewitt, dem., 1,033; for county clerk, I. C. Dye, rep., 1,318; J. B. Ryneberger, dem., 973; for assessor, S. G. Taylor, rep., 1,327; H. L. Davenport, dem., 1,016; for sheriff, E. J. Cox, rep., 1,016; John Wilkinson, dem., 983; H. C. Adams, rep., for sheriff, and W. R. Combs, rep., for surveyor, were elected without opposition.

—Reed's first Congress began with a republican majority of only three, but 25 democrats were kicked out to make autocratic the rule of the Czar. In the next Reed Congress the republicans will have a majority of about 100 to start on, and as orders to contest have been issued to all republican candidates defeated by 500 or less votes, it will hardly be worth his trouble for a democratic member-elect to go on to Washington and claim his seat.

—A lynching without a pretense of justification is reported from Monticello, Ga. A negro was convicted of rape and sentenced to be hanged November 30. The Judge had scarcely pronounced sentence when a mob seized the prisoner, dragged him from the court-room and hanged him to the limb of a tree.

—The silver men of Colorado and other mining States, probably gathering the impression from the latest election returns that there is only one political party in this county just now and a good opening for a new one, are again talking up their scheme for a Silver party.

—Miss Hattie Parker, of Marion, 19 years of age, died on the southbound train Friday afternoon, near Glasgow Junction. She was returning home from a trip to the mountains of Kentucky, where she had been for her health. Consumption was the cause.

—Miss Chloe E. Cowan, oldest living daughter of the late James Cowan, and for nine years a faithful and efficient supervisor in the Kentucky School for the Deaf, died at the institution Thursday after a brief illness.—Advocate.

—Samuel G. Worden, one of the American Railway Union strikers charged with wrecking a train in California and causing the death of five men, has been convicted of murder in the first degree.

—A consignment of 2,500 California cattle that were grazed in Kansas, recently sold in Chicago for $10 to $20 per head for the steers, the cows and heifers $10.

—Jackson, county seat of Breathitt county, is probably the only town of any size in the State which has not a burial ground, public or private, near it.

—Two members of the Cook gang yesterday plundered the town of Lenapeh, Indian Territory, killing one citizen and wounding another.

—The Cherokee Legislature has made it an act of treason, punishable by death, for a Cherokee citizen to sell real estate to any white man.

—A Household Treasure. — D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in his house, and his family would not be without it, if procurable. G. A. Dykes' Drugstore, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is undoubtedly the best Cough remedy; that he has used it in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that is claimed for it. Why not try it? It is a long tried and tested. Trial bottle free at A. R. Penny's Drug Store. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

—W. A. McGuire, a well-known citizen of McWay, Ky., has the opinion that there is nothing as good for children troubled with colds or croup as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He has used it in his family for several years with the best results and always keeps a bottle of it in the house. After having it griped him, he was troubled with a severe cough. He used other remedies without success, then concluded to try the children's medicine and to his delight it soon effected a permanent cure.

JAMES R. WARREN

Celebrates His 90th Birth-Day Right Royally.

Ninety years old and still in the enjoyment of most of his faculties! That is the result of a temperate, industrious, well spent and honorable life, such as has been that of Mr. James Biggs Warren, who with his friends, children and grandchildren celebrated his four-score and tenth birthday at his pleasant home last Friday. A good portion of these long years had been spent in the Mt. Xenia neighborhood and his friends there determined to give him a surprise. Accordingly they prepared a dinner, such as can only be prepared by those excellent housewives, and without giving the old gentleman a hint of their intention, they came upon him Friday, bearing baskets full of delightfully cooked chicken, ham, short, ham, cake, pins, &c., &c., together with cream and fruits and when it was spread out it would have tempted the palate of the most fastidious epicure. Moses Evans and Eddie Warren had "caught on" to the intention of the Mt. Xenia plotters and intimated it to a number of friends, who gladly accepted the hint to be present. Some 25 persons sat down to the feast and with the fine old gentlemen at the head of the table and in the bloom of spirits, discussed with him his favorite subject, the Scriptures, while they did full justice to the toothsome repast. Among those present were Elders W. E. Elks and J. T. Brown and after the dinner had been served they united with the aged host in a service of thanks and prayer and praise in which he joined with zest and enthusiasm. The occasion was a pleasant one in every particular and when the guests departed it was with fervent trust that the old gentleman should be spared to enjoy many more such occasions.

In November 1804, "Uncle Jimmy" as he is familiarly known was born near Hustonville, this county. He was raised on a farm and obtained the usual educational advantages of the day, which were then very limited, by working in summer and attending the "old field" school in the winter. Afterwards he followed merchandizing and for 10 years was postmaster of Stanford, which office he filled in a highly satisfactory manner. An Old Line Wtig before, he became an intense Union man at the breaking out of the war and suffered much for the cause. After the war, he united with the republican party, but he was not always bound hand and foot to its commands and frequently voted for men he thought most fitted to fill the offices to which they aspired, a notable example being his uniform support of Grover Cleveland.

J. R. WARREN.

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—County court to-day.

—Snow, the first of the season, covers mother earth.

—J. R. Hardin burned his hand very seriously Saturday night.

—Mrs. Bennett, of Richmond, and Mrs. Sallie Sawyer are here to establish a school. They propose to furnish $20,000 if the citizens will furnish the same amount. I doubt very much if the arrangement can be made, but I hope otherwise.

The following is the official majorities of Laurel county: Colson 210. Adams got 311 votes, making a republican majority of 61. Nelson, for assessor, over Barrett, 325; Carrier, for jailer, over Pierly 183; Wilson, for attorney, over Reid, 450; Brown, for judge, over Pearl, 91; Scoville, for county clerk, Elliott for sheriff, and Cloyd, for coroner, had no opposition.

—Central University and Centre College will not play foot ball this year. The managers met and failed to come to an understanding, as Central University objected to Cook playing on the Centre team. As he is a bona fide student of the law school the Centre people saw no reason why they should accept this objection and the game is off.

—A mob at Lloyd, La., hanged a negro and shot a half breed to death for murdering a store-keeper.

Henry Wilson, the potmester at Welsington, Fla., says he cured a case of diarrhoea of long standing in six hours, with one amber bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cough and Diarrhoea Remedy. Such a remarkable cure that must have been the effect of the medicine. Such cures are not unusual with this remedy. In many instances only one or two doses are required to give permanent relief. It can always be depended upon. When reduced with water it is pleasant to take.

For sale by Dr. S. G. Hocker, druggist, Stanford.

Symptom Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Castle, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism; his stomach was deranged, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite failed away and he was terribly reduced in weight and strength. Three bottles of Edward's Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three Bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Buckskin Salve, and his leg is now perfectly well. John Speeker, Catawba Island, had five large fever sores on his leg; doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box Buckskin's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by A. R. Penny, druggist.

For a pain in the side or chest there is nothing as good as a piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on over the seat of pain. It affords prompt and permanent relief if used in wine will often prevent a cold from settling in pneumonia. This same treatment is a sure cure for lame back.

For sale by Dr. S. G. Hocker, druggist, Stanford.

Moses said, "stand still and see the salvation of God." He finally commanded them to go forward; they crossed over, they struck up the song of deliverance. Their enemies aimed to follow them; they were all drowned—a type of something—but they soon became idolaters.

We now have them to travel through the wilderness for 40 years, only two of the 600,000 men ever got to Canaan. A type of something. Look out, you professed Christians. After being about 600 years under the immediate control of the Heavenly Father, hear what Christ says to their leaders: You scribes and Pharisees, how can you escape the damnation of hell; you are like white serpents, outwardly you look well, but inwardly you are full of corruption, and all uncleanness; a type of something, we know it more particularly.

We are now coming a little nearer to the gospel dispensation. There was a man sent from God whose name was John. His mission was to prepare a people for the Lord and make the Savior known to Israel. "John came preaching the baptism of repentance for remission of sins. Then went out to him Jesus and all Judea, and were baptized of John in Jordan." We hear the Savior saying to John, "you must baptize me," John said, "I have need to be baptized of thee and comest thou to me?" He said: "It becometh us to fulfill all righteousness." John then baptized the Savior and a voice from the Heavenly Father said: "This is my son."

We learn that Christ commenced preaching the gospel saying, "Repent for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand." He chose 12 apostles, also 70 disciples and sent them out to preach. Did they preach how that Christ had died for our sins? No! They preached the Kingdom of Heaven was at hand or was approaching?

The things pertaining to the Kingdom were being gradually developed. Christ had to prove He was divine, sent of God. How did he do it? By miracle, raising the dead, healing the sick, causing the lame to walk. Truly the apostle John could say, "These things were written that you might believe that Christ was the Son of God." But the terrible tragedy had yet to take place. Christ had to die. He had to be buried, He had to rise from the dead, He had to ascend to Heaven to become King of King and Lord of Lords. The Holy Spirit was now at his disposal. He sent the spirit to his 12 apostles. All authority is given into my hands. Go and preach the gospel to every creature." The gospel had never been completed till now, all the parts had been brought together. In my next article will show up more fully the necessity and importance of the different parts that compose the gospel.

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD KY., NOVEMBER 13, 1894

W. P. WALTON.

ONE of the many bad results of last Tuesday's awful slump is the election of Alphabet Guffy to the appellate bench from the 1st Kentucky district over Hon. W. L. Reeves, a fine lawyer and a man of brains. Guffy is a busterskite, a turncoat and an ignoramus. He has been a member of every political party and his flop into the republican party is of recent date. That party thought there was no show for its candidate in that stronghold of democracy against such a man as Reeves, and Guffy was nominated as a joke, but the vote shows that it is the unexpected that happens. Guffy's majority is 668 and the result is as inexplicable as it is deplorable. The commonest lawyer at any bar knows as much law as he and it is a crying shame that such a man is elevated to pass upon the liberty and property of the people of Kentucky from its highest court. Fortunately the old man is three score and ten and as that is the allotted span of life we have the hope that death may claim him before he has brought the court into disgrace and contempt.

It seems that the people have a way of retiring those who take active part in either an increase of the tariff or its reduction. Morrison championed a reform bill a few years ago and at the next election he went under. McKinley went in the other direction and framed a bill for the benefit of the monopolists and trusts and he was ingloriously turned down. Wilson was the recognized head of tariff reform in the present Congress and Tuesday last he too was defeated. These verdicts may mean that tariff tinkering must cease, but we do not believe it. The great masses of the people will never be satisfied till the good old doctrine of free trade and sailor's rights shall prevail in the country supposed to be free in every other particular.

THE democratic party will doubtless be better from the whipping it has received, but like the spanked child it does not feel so now. If it send the time servers to the rear and furnish a Moses to lead us out of the wilderness that the unfaithful servants have driven us into, all will be well. But there must be a reorganization all along the line. The Gormans, the Brices and the what-nots must go and men of lofty patriotism and faithfulness to the eternal principles of democracy must take their places. May the good Lord send us a leader worthy of the cause and of the country.

The next Kentucky Congressional delegation will stand at first six democrats to five republicans. Our own McCreary, Berry, Clardy and Hendrick having good majorities, will likely retain their seats, but Owens with 101 and Kendall with 104 will stand no show against Denny and Hopkins in a contest before a Congress over 100 majority republican. We remember the action of the Reed Congress and tremble for every democrat with less than 500 majority.

SENATOR GORMAN, who contributed more to the crushing defeat of the democratic party than any other man, says he does not see anything to very much depress democrat, believing that the tidal wave can not long engulf them. It will engulf them and continue to do so and ought to do so, if such men as Gorman shall be permitted to dictate its policy and prove recreant to its promises.

NOTHING better might have been expected of the Northern States, but when Missouri and North Carolina elect republican State tickets, legislatures and a majority of the Congressmen of that faith, it is time to inquire "Where are we at?" The only answer that comes from the echoless shore is "On that narrow strip of territory between hell and the iron works."

THE democrats will scarcely have a sufficient number of members in the next Congress to order the year and nays. Even Indiana does not send a single democrat to Congress, but in this she is not alone. A number of other other States went over body and soul to the enemy and there is no help for them.

We rise to a point of information and ask Bro. Walton who has been guilty of "talking through his hat?"—London Echo. This is a case in which the pot can not call the kettle black. Bro. Dyche has proved a prophet without honor in his own country and the less he says about things political the better. We were both ingloriously left.

THE official count gives Owens 101 majority over Denny and he was declared the nominee. Denny took but little interest in the count, as he is confident that he will be seated in Congress by his partners in shame, with or without excuse. This is the chance he long has sought and soared because he found it not.

EITHER Mercury was a little late in making his transit or the astronomers miscalculated. Perhaps also our time was wrong. At any rate, the observers found a difference of ten minutes and an attempt will be made to correct the error in the calculations from the observations taken.

The official count gave Gov. McCreary 41 plurality in this county and leaves his plurality in the district at about 1,500. Considering how the rest of the country went and the local disturbances, with which he had to contend, this is one of the most remarkable races ever made. It shows too that genuine merit is sometimes appreciated and that the model Congressman, having been faithful to every trust, the people are willing to continue him in office as long as he deserves it.

The glory of John D. White has departed as a prominent republican told us during his campaign, he is a very back number. Though he retired in favor of Adams and appealed to his neighbors in his own county of Clay to support him, she gave Colson 1,051 votes and Adams but 170. But the created jayhawk has the consolation of knowing that appeals are not worth shucks with his party against the stronger argument of the almighty dollar.

SOME ELECTION ECHOES.

A republican was elected sheriff in Mercer by 180 majority.

Stone carried Wayne by 270. Colson's vote is 812 and Adams 125.

The republican majority in the Indiana Legislature on joint ballot is 60.

If the republicans want any more than the earth, they can have hades and Hailfax.

Arkansas and Louisiana return solid democratic delegations, but by reduced majorities.

Complete returns make Morton's majority over Hill for governor of New York 153,835.

Illinois elected only one democratic Congressman. The majority against Springer is 2,938.

Rolla Hart's own county of Fleming went against him by 150. Pugh's majority is nearly 500.

The failure of Col. Adams to poll many votes knocked out George Stone and democratic calculations.

Texas was saved out of the wreck by 50,000 for governor, but two seats in Congress are lost to the populists.

Shelby is the banner county of the district as usual. She gave our model Congressman 881 majority over Roberts.

The gubernatorial race in Tennessee is in doubt with chances in favor of the republican. The Congressional delegation is badly demoralized.

Full returns from the 11th show that David Grant Colson is elected by 2,907 plurality over George E. Stone. But he didn't get 17,500 votes, we observe.

Hon. Silas Adams will contest the election of D. G. Colson to Congress in the 11th district on the ground that he was made the nominee of the republican party by fraud.

Russell county elected John Crisp judge by 13, Judge W. S. Stone, clerk, by 113, J. O. Miller, sheriff, by 40, and Wm. Vaughan, assessor, by 7. The other officers are republican. Stone carried the county by 2 over Colson, Adams only getting 104 votes.

This is a great year for big pluralities. With about 150,000 in New York, over 100,000 in Illinois, over 125,000 in Ohio, over 90,000 in Massachusetts, over 50,000 in Indiana and Iowa, nearly 200,000 in Pennsylvania, and corresponding figures in States that have been close heretofore the republicans ought to feel very well, thank you.

The prospects are that the running races at Lexington this week will be a cold and slimly attended affair.

The fall races began yesterday at Lexington and continue nine days. The best horse in the West will participate.

John B. Foster, E. P. Woods and A. W. Carpenter will ship 120 export cattle to Chicago to day to be sold in that market.

C. T. Sandige, the saddle horse trainer, has gone to St. Joe, Mo., where he will take charge of Mr. Rufus McDonald's stable of saddlers.

J. J. McFinnis reports the sale of 25 head of horses and mules at from $30 to $70. Eight miles sold court day at $20 to $27.—Harrington Democrat.

The age records for this year are:

One-year-old, Adbell, 2:23; two-year-old, Impetuous, 2:15½; three-year-old, Onoqua, 2:11½; four-year-old, Fantasy, 2:06.

Ollie K., the Anderson county trotting mare, broke the Georgia State record last week, going a mile in 2:19. The mare is the property of Lillard & Bond.

Joe Embry, of Madison, bought of J. W. Allen, of the West End, 32 long yearlings at $3c. He also bought of G. W. Riffe an extra bunch of feeders at 4c.

Capt. David Hastings, who has a farm near Memphis, has raised 2,500 bushels of Triumph potatoes, which averaged about 30 barrels to the acre, and they will sell for $2.50 per barrel.

Eugene Kelley has sold to Socrates Tarter, of Pulaski, his farm on the Danville pike, opposite Hon. G. A. Lackey's, containing 50 acres, at $60. Mr. Kelley will to the regret of their many friends, move his family to Texas.

Jno. W. Miller is buying corn for his distillery delivered at $1.25. A. R. Denney, Esq., sold two car loads of export cattle to Monte Fox, of Danville, last Saturday, to be delivered the last half of this month, at $4.25 per 100 lbs. They will average about 1,500 lbs.—Lancaster Record.

J. W. Poor delivered to Pony Beazley, for J. W. Bates, 50 head of toppy export cattle that averaged 1,530 pounds, for which he received $4.80. G. P. Bright and son, Greenberry, sold to Monte Fox 37 head of shipping cattle a few days ago at 4½ and 4¾ cents, to be delivered the latter part of this month.—Danville Advocate.

A very small crowd attended court yesterday and not much business was transacted. There were about 50 cattle on the market, but none were offered publicly. The following private sales were made: Farris & Whitley bought of various parties 27 scrub cattle, milk cows, heavy oxen and the like at 2 to 3c. W. D. Snow bought of Eugene Kelley a young oxen weighing 2,477 at 2½c. J. M. Hurst sold to T. L. Lillard a lot of 2-year-old cattle at $2.10 and several yearlings at $10.50. A few plug horses sold publicly at $20 to $33.50.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

Dr. A. H. Witherspoon, of Lexington, and Miss Frankie Lillard, of Lawrenceburg, were married Saturday to Miss Mary, daughter of James F. White, of White Hall.

Gen. Cassius Marcellus Clay, of Madison, who is 84 years of age, obtained license a day or two ago to marry Miss Dora Richardson, a 15-year-old girl whom he was educating. Truly there is no fool like the old fool.

Philip Fain has been sued in New York by a young lady for $10,000 damages. She claims that he kissed her four times against her will and that she ought to recover $2,500 a piece for them. Kisses come high in New York, it seems, but some men are bound to have them.

Miss Susan Magoffin Logan, sister of Rev. Sanford M. Logan, of this place, and Mr. T. S. Burnam, both of Richmond, will be married at the home of the bride's father, President Logan of Central University, on the 22d. The prospective bride is said to be very beautiful.

The Deficiency In the Buttonhole Situation. A long felt want has just been filled by the invention of a migratory buttonhole. This is the way the originator describes it:

"A readily removable and transferable attachment, adapted to be fitted to an article of personal wear, to temporarily repair a broken buttonhole, consisting of a strip of noncorrosive material folded upon itself, so that its bright may be fitted over the edge of the garment and its folded members made to clasp both sides of the part of the garment through which the broken buttonhole is made, the members having openings formed in them near the centers, with the major axes extending transversely of the width of the folded members, the openings adapted to coincide with each other and with the broken buttonhole, and independent and readily detachable fastenings for immovably securing the free ends of the members to the garment to a point beyond the broken buttonhole."

So there need be no more marrying for the sake of button sewing. Those that are married already shall keep so. The rest can use the patent portable buttonhole.—Boston Transcript.

Curious Epitaphs.

One of the most remarkable and confusing epitaphs ever written is to be seen on a weather beaten stone in the quiet churchyard of Culmudge, a few miles from Londonderry, Ireland.

"Here lie the remains of Thomas Nicholls, who died in Philadelphia, March, 1783. Had he lived he would have been buried here."

This is equalled perhaps by an epitaph from a tombstone in Ulster, recently copied by a traveler in that country:

"To the memory of Thomas Kelly, who was accidentally shot by his brother as a mark of respect."

Another curious epitaph is legible on a tombstone in the churchyard of Woodbridge, Suffolk, England:

WHILE sitting in front of a big log fire Saturday night, Mrs. Wm. Bland, of the Hubble section, fainted and fell head foremost into it and was fearfully burned about the face, sides and hands. THERE has been an unusually cold spell for the democrats as well as the rest of the sinners. It began to snow Saturday and continued at intervals all day Sunday, while a searching North wind chilled the marrow of those who had business out of doors. Yesterday morning the mercury was down to 15° and some of the hydrants in town were frozen up. The prediction received yesterday reads: Increasing cloudiness; warmer Tuesday.

CANDOR and a desire to give every one his due compel us to say that county judge elect George M. Davison has acted in a very manly and becoming manner since his famous victory, not having himself indulged in any offensive demonstrations of delight nor permitted his friends to do so. We may have been a little hard on him in times past, but our fight ended with our defeat and in the future we shall accord Mr. Davison as fair treatment as he shall deserve, extorting naught nor setting down anything in malice, praising him if his official acts shall justify it and condemning him if he prove untrue to the obligations he will assume.

THE three weeks term of circuit court ended Saturday, but Judge Samuels has designated Thursday as a general cleaning up day. Only one negro, Ike Logan, was given a penitentiary sentence and he got five years for shooting at Mr. W. E. Amon when he caught him stealing his chickens. The case of Mr. J. Wesley Eubanks against Mrs. Bettie Broadbent for building a fence across the passway he had bought through the farm now owned by her, occupied the court for three days and ended Saturday afternoon in a verdict for Mr. Eubanks $500. The report that Mrs. Broadbent, who is a sister of the late Col. A. M. Swope, would make a speech in her own behalf, drew a large crowd to the courthouse, but it was doomed to disappointment. The next court in course begins next Monday at Lancaster.

THE best race made by anybody anywhere was by our esteemed correspondent, John Pearl, of London. In the rock ribbed republican county of Laurel he came within 91 votes of being elected judge which is proof of his popularity and good standing. Hurrah for this Pearl without price.

IN the primary election Varnon received 874 votes and Givens 928, equal to 1,802. In the final round Givens got only 1,433. The difference between the combined vote of last March and that of Givens Tuesday represents the number of men who have slight regard for honor and their promises.

WE have been forced to admire the manner in which Mr. James F. Cummings has conducted himself in the present contest, which means so much for him. He wants his rights and will endeavor to get them by law if he thinks he is denied them, but he makes no silly boasts or threats and retains his equilibrium and gentlemanlike.

THE Caledonians fulfilled their promises more gratifyingly Saturday night and rendered an excellent program in an entertaining manner. W. H. Shanks presided in his easy way, and his beautiful smile of satisfaction was as infectious as his good humor. The violin solo of Mr. B. H. Danks, to an accompaniment by Mrs. J. E. Portman, was loudly applauded, as were his performances on the mandolin, with that clever minstrel, J. A. Madd, on the guitar. The recitation of Little Maud Varnon was remarkably well done for a little tot and the house evinced its appreciation in prolonged applause. Mr. Thomas H. Shanks also recited admirably and the oration by Mr. Samuel W. Menefee on the beloved president of the ill-fated Southern Confederacy, Jefferson Davis, was full of lofty thoughts, delivered with true oratorical fire and was a production of which his friends are justly proud. As usual everybody was on the qui vive for the promised solo of Miss Mary Cowen and her appearance was the signal for applause. She sang as only an accomplished artist can, the beautiful song, "Last Night" and in response to a deafening encore rendered "The Dutch Delta." Both efforts were worthy of her cultivated talent and more firmly increased the high admiration in which she is held as a vocalist and as a most accommodating lady. Her voice is sweetest melody and her efforts were greatly enjoyed. Miss Margaret Hughes, also of the college faculty, read "The Night of Trouble" and in answer to an encore recited "The Kitchen Clock," exhibiting in both a remarkable elocutionary ability. Her contributions to the evening's enjoyment were liberally applauded and highly complimented. The Caledonians are to be congratulated on the success of the entertainment and should feel proud that so large a crowd ventured out such a stormy evening to hear them.

THE Official Vote.

The board consisting of Judges W. E. Varnon, J. N. Menefee and G. B. Cooper canvassed the returns Friday and found the following results on the face of them:

For Congress, McCreary 1,507, Roberts 1,463, Thomas 13, Demaree 193. McCreary's plurality 44.

For county judge, James Walker Givens 1,433, George M. Davison 1,593. Davison's majority 160.

For county clerk, G. B. Cooper 1,503, J. F. Cummings 1,509. Cummings majority 6.

For county attorney, Joseph B. Paxton, no opposition, 1,487.

For sheriff, T. D. Newland 1,569, John H. Harman 1,428. Newland's majority 141.

For assessor, E. D. Kennedy 1,484.

Thomas Terry 1,490. Terry's majority 6.

For jailer, George W. DeBorde 1,499.

Petrey 1,474. DeBorde's majority 25.

W. L. Dawson received 566 votes for magistrate and T. J. Benedict 556 votes for constable in the Stanford district, both democrats, no opposition.

John Bailey for magistrate in the Hintonville precinct received 354 votes and Thomas Gooch 355 for constable, both democrats. There were 19 votes cast for L. B. Adams for magistrate and 1 for John Ellis. O. L. Williams got 2 votes for constable and S. D. Yowell 1.

In Crab Orchard, R. H. Bransford, for magistrate, 257, John Edington, 317, Edington's majority 60. J. P. Chandler got 265 votes for constable and Thomas Napier 315, Napier's majority 60.

Waynesburg, for magistrate, E. B. Caldwell, Jr., 243, A. G. Fanckner 322, Wm. Leach 4. John Crow 11, Fanckner's plurality 79. For constable, Henderson Bangs 261, Joseph Kuntz 305, Kuntz's majority 41.

The above figures are made on the face of the returns. The reduction in Terry's majority, as at first reported, was from errors in telegraphic transmissions. In the case of Cooper and Cummings there is a contest over the eight ballots returned uncounted by Stanford, No. 3, known

Engine Honae. These are badly stamped some of them being on the side of the rooster, under both the rooster and the eagle and so on, but each is stamped in the square of Mr. Cooper, showing plainly that whatever was the intention of the voter as to the other races it was his intention to vote for Cooper. In his own case of course, Mr. Cooper took no hand in the count, and when the eight ballots were examined, it was decided to hear argument as to the legality of counting them. Mr. Miller represented Mr. Cummins and took the ground that the board had no right to do anything, but simply to declare the result as sent up by the officers of the election. J. B. Paxton and Judge Alcorn for Cooper contended that the fact that the law required doubtful ballots to be sent to the canvassing board was proof that it intended the board to examine and pass upon them and that

Cooper was entitled in justice and in law to get the benefit of them and that he should be given the certificate of election. Judge Alcorn's argument was

THE WORLD OF STYLE

NOVELTIES IN WINTER WRAPS AND COSTUMES.

Ladies Who Like to Appear Inoffensive to the Cold.—A Disquisition on Furs—Gowns For Home Wear—Handsome Frock For a Girl.

[Copyright, 1894, by American Press Association.]

Among women there are many who like to appear indifferent to cold. They think it gives them an added charm to walk along the street clad in pretty and not too warm looking garments while their sisters are snugly up in cozy looking furs, with their noses half the time buried in mufflers. Such women generally create a feeling of pity in the breasts of such men as may see them, but few know that underneath the smoothly fitting waist there is a silken jacket lined with fur or chamois skin, which makes the whole body warm as toast. There is a much larger number of women who dress in this manner than is generally known. They have a fancy collarette or a bon to keep the throat warm. The plan is not a good one to follow, as while the person wearing these inner fur waists find them comfortable in the street they cannot be loosened in a store or house, and they then heat the body unduly, so that the wearer is in danger of colds as soon as she goes out, and they are most often colds in the head, leading to catarrh, that bugbear of women.

Many of the costumes for quite late fall are made to wear without wraps in this way, but they are certainly very stylish. One costume of this planning was of light drab and green indistinct stripes in a wool so soft as to be almost fleecy. Around the bottom of the skirt was one narrow line of soutache. The sleeves were drooping puffs, with a frill of lace at the elbow. The corsage was made of dark green moire, and there was a very wide sash with two deep loops and one end. Around the neck there was a ribbon collar with bows and loops all the way around. There was a singly fitted silk and chamois lining, so that the wearer can follow her intention of having a toilet that will attract attention, whether admiring or not can not be yet told.

A side from the ultra dames mentioned above the rest of femininity seems to be trying to get all the fur possible on their garments and the most massive and heavy coats and mantles to put it on when a full fur garment is impossible. One black melton coat had the storm collar bound with black astrakhan and six rows an inch wide of the same fur down the back from the upper edge of the collar to the bottom of the skirt. The rows met at the belt line. The front was finished in the same way. The sleeves were very large gigots with the rows of the fur around the wrist. I have seen several new coats trimmed after this fancy.

Moire astrakhan and black Persian will be seen oftenest this winter than they have ever been before, and every possible thing, and some things heretofore considered impossible, will be made of them, particularly Persian. It is said that Persian will bear more hard usage than any other fur, and so many jackets and coats are made of it. Prince Albert coats which are very close fitting are made of that fur, and some are short, while others are quite long.

I do not care to attempt in this letter to give a full disquisition on furs, but rather to speak of the woolen coats. The caps, with their capuchins, I have already mentioned. There is apparently no limit to the styles of jackets and coats. Some are the now popular Prince Albert shape, and more are cut to hang straight down the front, closing with a few enormous buttons. In some there are darts taken up. In one, which was a very stylish coat indeed, there were two darts reaching from the bust to the bottom, and these were turned over and seamed down, making a large welt. All the back and side seams were treated in the same way, and there was a heavy row of stitching on the bottom. There were fancy pocket flaps, and these constituted all the trimming. The material was heavy fluffy wool in two shades of gray, with black cross stripes.

Very many of the coats reach the feet and are double or single breasted, as might best please the wearer. Some have direc-toire finish, others the storm collar of fur; some are lined throughout and others only as to the waist and sleeves. None so far has had fur all around the bottom, but far often trimms. I noticed a very handsome Scotch checked coat, made nister shape, but with two deep plaited down the back, from the neck, and left to fall loose from the waist line. Over this was a cameron cape of the same material, with a turndown collar in front, which became a capuchon in the back, and this was lined with dark green velveta. The front was double breasted, with six enormous buttons of muree, with green lights predominating.

Women are not always in the street, and when at home they need the dainty loose morning gowns and the bewitching tea gowns as well as many other dresses for the quiet hours when the lady of the house must attend to those duties that are generally a pleasure, such as dusting, sewing and generally superintending her household. For easy morning wraps, cashmere, challis and the thousand and one inexpensive and neutral tinted woolens for that purpose, and for tea gowns—why, there are any number of kinds of light silks, crepons and fayettes, all elegant and dressy. I remember noting one lovely tea gown for a young mother. It was of two shades of blue crinkled and striped crepon, cut in a loose princess shape, with one deep wattle plait in the back. The skirt was quite plain on the outside. On the inside, under the hem, there was a pinked blue taffeta, ruffle covered, with three lace ruffles, which showed occasionally with the movement of the wearer. There were two blue moire straps over the shoulders, and these each had a double fall of lace—one fall wide, the other half the width of the lower. This trimming met in the back in the same manner as it did in front, and there was a quilling of moire ribbon, ending with two long streamers of the ribbon, the same as in front. A jabot ruche encircled the neck, of lace over ribbon, and a lace fall and ribbon bands finished the puffed elbow sleeves. The gown was very graceful and elegant. This tea gown had been sent from a grand house in Paris and may well be copied. It would be equally pretty in fayette, lightweight silks or cashmere in delicate shades.

COAT AND TEA GOWN.

A frock for this lady's dainty little daughter was made of ruby velveta, laid in plats and trimmed with pink ribbon and pink silk milliner's folds. This would be an admirable model to follow in dark woolen stuffs or plaids for everyday wear.

HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

The FASHION PLATE.

English corduroy and bedford cords are still very popular fabrics.

There is a great display of flowered and satin striped moiré designed for elegant winter gowns.

The closely woven but medium weight wools are the very best fabrics for utility gowns for the autumn and winter.

Many ermine trimming capes of velvet or fine Venetian cloth lined with satin brocade are exhibited by leading city importers.

Jet garnitures are used in profusion both in dress and millinery. They are conspicuous this season on all sorts of wraps and gowns.

It is still observed that at full dress entertainments the low slippers or French sandals more frequently match the gloves in color than the gown.

Braiding in intricate designs is used upon natty coats for youthful wearers, made of Russian green, marine blue, auburn brown and pale tan cloths severally.

Aided by the numberless models in caps and jackets, the transition from autumn to winter will be stylishly and attractively effected by the new direc-toire redingote.
